7. Watermark Styles Presets

Watermarking is the process of embedding information (logo etc.) onto a document in a way that is difficult to remove. If the document is copied, then the information (watermark) also is carried in the copy. One application of watermarking is in copyright protection which is intended to prevent or deter unauthorized copying of the document. You may include several watermarks in your document as required and then send them to whomsoever with the emailing facility (Defined in Email Styles Presets section) as because of the watermark your document will remain copyright protected.
